

What I do?

I can adjust my service delivery to whatever you need to achieve your desired goals. Some of my past deliverables have included:

- Analyzing classroom set up and student interaction to help you design a plan to maximize student performance.
- Suggesting alternate programming to improve student outcomes.
- Finding potential solutions to close the achievement gap.

My resume?

My past clients have used my services for:

- Student leadership development
- Teacher training focused on working with at-risk students
- Entrepreneurship, student coaching, and decision-making

Some of my client list has included:

Follow me on social media

The Chosen Institute

EDUCATIONAL CONSULTING

Travis Corpening is an author, speaker, coach, and consultant that has spent 20 years in the trenches for the educational improvement of the at risk. He has won multiple awards for his work developing students, helping institutions reach goals, and improve results both in the classroom and from a macro level in academia. He has presented papers, articles, and developed new ways of looking at student issues through programming, outreach, and his book, The Eye of the Mentor.

Travis has been able to help a plethora of agencies and companies looking to achieve better results for their participants. His work is always driven by empathy and a love to discover new ways to solve challenging problems. Whether at the middle school, high school or post secondary level his results speak for themselves. With achievements like winning best paper at the Clute International Conference for education, and University of North Carolina Wilmington's 2016 Young Alumn of the Year award for his work creating the Young Mogul Development Group (YMDG), his results speak for themselves. YMDG boast a 100% high school grad rate!

Young Mogul Grad

Contact: (910) 742-0148

traviscorpening.com